FROM THE PASTOR

Something dawned on me this year in my reflection on the prayers and readings of Christmas. Though we should all know this, sometimes it's hard for me to see how all the Old Testament promises and prophecies of the flourishing of the Kingdom of God are fulfilled in the Catholic Church. That means today, too. The reason we may not think about this type of fulfillment is that we celebrate the mystery of the First Coming of Christ as the primary fulfillment.

For example, Abraham is promised that his descendants will be as numerous as the stars of the sky; Isaiah prophesied that nations and kings will come to Jerusalem; and elsewhere we hear that instruction will go forth from Mt. Zion. Certainly by the time of the Nativity there is a fulfillment in ancient Israel in some way of all these promises. In particular, the arrival of the Magi in Bethlehem is an explicit reference to the fulfillment of Isaiah. Also, the Lord's actual proclamation of the Gospel during his public ministry on earth is that teaching that went out from Zion.

Nevertheless, these promises are fulfilled in an even greater sense through the Body of Christ, the Church, across myriad times and lands since the Nativity. More than a billion faithful (and growing, God willing) truly does approach a number like the stars of the sky; nations and kings need not literally go to ancient Jerusalem when the New Jerusalem has come to them as the Faith spread globally among peoples and lands; and the instruction of Mt. Zion is made real in what we call Western Civilization, which has transformed how every culture must think about life on earth.

Whether we want to reflect on an ancient fulfillment of ancient prophecies or a contemporary one, they both have something in common: the Lord never promised it would be easy. We have no guarantee of tranquility in any time or place, no lack of trial, and sadly no lack of worldliness or corruption mingled with the fulfillment, whether it be in the world or in the Church. That type of promise comes in a different manner within the disciple, and is something we need to turn toward in all places and times as individuals.

Psalm 37 makes this promise several times: "If you trust in the Lord and do good, then you will live in the land and be secure," and, "The just will possess the land," etc. The Lord is referring to this psalm when He teaches: "The meek shall inherit the earth." Meekness, humility, and detachment from worldly goods are all needed in us in order to not scratch and cling to the enticement that this life can be perfect. The promise we receive, ironically, is that by being more detached from what we do not have, then we better appreciate the blessings the Lord has already given us, even if they are meant only for this life.

Psalm 37 is explicit in how this is possible: "If you find your delight in the Lord, He will grant your heart's desire." When times are tumultuous and it seems God has put us somewhere in history (like our whole life, by the way) that dims the ability to see his prophecies fulfilled, it is a reminder to us to seek Him as our greatest delight. That promise is easy to be fulfilled. Because it just depends on how much we desire it.

12th Annual Holy Hour for Life, Healing and Forgiveness

Wednesday, January 27
7 p.m. at St. Lucy Church

Presiders: Deacon John Kobrenski and Deacon John Pierce

This Holy Hour for Life will be held as part of the Archdiocesan observance of the National Day of Prayer for the Legal Protection of Unborn Children (Jan. 22) marking the anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision legalizing abortion on demand.

We will pray together for respect for the dignity of human life from conception to natural death, for those who have been wounded by abortion, for those facing death, and for increased holiness in the Church.

The Holy Hour for Life, Forgiveness and Healing is organized by Boston Deacons for Life in collaboration with the Office of Diaconal Life and Ministry & the Pro Life Office of the Archdiocese of Boston. Please join us; all are welcome.
