From Father Joe's Desk

As we celebrate the Baptism of the Lord, perhaps we can consider the Sacrament of Baptism and its relationship with the Holy Eucharist. One of the more obscure gospel passages in the Baptismal Rite involves the account of Jesus' death through the eyes of St. John, who was the only apostle to remain at the foot of the Cross with Our Lady and a few others. John recorded what he witnessed. Only the Gospel of John contains the following account.

The soldiers came to break the legs of the crucified in order to hasten death and remove their bodies before the Passover Sabbath. Since Jesus was already dead, the centurion ordered a fatal lance thrust just to be sure. When the soldier withdrew his lance, immediately blood and water flowed out. While entirely natural, this flow of blood and water is also theologically and sacramentally significant for us Catholics. The Blood of Christ flowing from Christ's side points us to the Most Holy Eucharist while the water points us to the Sacrament of Baptism.

In 1931, Jesus instructed St. Faustina Kowalska of the Blessed Sacrament, Secretary and Apostle of Divine Mercy, to have the image of Divine Mercy painted. In the image of the Divine Mercy, red and white rays emanate from the Heart of Jesus. At one point, Jesus taught her to pray these words: "O Blood and Water, which gushed forth from the Heart of Jesus, as a fount of mercy for us, I trust in You" (Diary, entry 84; cf. 309). Continuing from St. Faustina's diary: "When on one occasion my confessor told me to ask the Lord Jesus the meaning of the two rays in the image, I answered, 'Very well, I will ask the Lord.' During prayer I heard these words within me: 'The two rays denote Blood and Water. The pale ray stands for the water that makes souls righteous. The red ray stands for the Blood which is the life of souls ...

These two rays issued forth from the very depths of My tender mercy when my agonized Heart was opened by a lance on the Cross" (Diary, 299).

Jesus' words--"The pale ray stands for water that makes souls righteous"--point to the waters of Baptism. Baptism cleanses its recipient from all sin including Original Sin, making souls truly righteous. "The red ray stands for the Blood which is the life of souls," namely the Body and Blood of Christ in the Eucharist, the true Food which sustains the life of the soul. And just as the life of the body is sustained by the soul, so also the life of the soul--revived in Baptism--is sustained by the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Thus, Baptism and the Eucharist are as intimately tied together as are the Blood and water flowing commingled from the Body of Christ. One cannot approach the Altar of Sacrifice, one cannot receive the Most Blessed Eucharist, without first passing through the cleansing laver of Baptism. Baptism is truly the gateway sacrament to all the sacraments of the Church that flow from Christ's wounded side as He died upon the Cross, as witnessed in the Gospel of John and in the revelations of the Divine Mercy to Saint Faustina.
